This four-step process can end procrastination

At one time or another, most kids put off doing their homework. But when procrastination becomes a habit, it can affect school performance.

To help your child break the procrastination habit, have him:

- 1. Select just one thing to do. Sometimes kids put things off when they feel overwhelmed. Tell your child to focus on one assignment at a time.
- 2. Set a timer for 30 minutes and begin working on the assignment. While the timer is ticking, he should focus only on that assignment.
- 3. Avoid breaks. Your child should get water or a snack before he starts the timer so he doesn't interrupt his work flow.
- 4. Reward himself. Once the timer goes off, encourage your child to do something he likes, such as playing an online game for a few minutes.

Have your child repeat this process until his assignment is complete!
